An Amazing Announcement for 2009!

Have you made your New Year's resolutions yet? We have! The museum has some great plans for 2009. Exciting exhibits, new programming and best of all; a party like no other!

North Bay has been named a Celebration Community for the Vancouver Olympics Torch Run. In late December of 2009, North Bay will be hosting a HUGE party to celebrate the arrival of the Olympic torch. Discovery North Bay Museum, and our surrounding yards were chosen by the national Olympic torch site selection committee to host the party. We are extremely honored to have been chosen as the venue for the big party. The eyes of the nation will be on us, and we can't wait to make North Bay proud!

Welcome Back Courtney!

A year ago we were sad to say goodbye to Courtney Roy, who had worked for the Museum for five years as a student. Having graduated, Courtney moved away, and we were heartbroken to lose her (sniff, sniff). This month we have good news – she has moved back to North Bay! I guess she missed us too.

Courtney will be looking after our day camps, workshops and lots of great museum programming and events. This week Courtney was back in the swing of things hosting a New Year's Time Capsule party at the Museum. Check out our nifty time capsule boxes on the table. Making time capsules is a fun way to teach kids about history. Consider putting together a family time capsule that can be reopened every New Year. A year from now, it will be marvelous to watch young ones 'discover' what they were up to the year before, especially now that they are so much older and wiser!
